The Collection

August Sandgren today and beyond

“It’s actually quite simple – we make mess pretty.

In a time of chaos, August Sandgren provides handcrafted storage objects in both leather and fabrics to help declutter our immediate surroundings; our home, office and mind.

Most of us have a lot of things – and things tend to pile up. August Sandgren is a solution for our small piles of clutter: from keys, cards, and coins in hallways, to remote controls on coffee tables, to paper, pens and laptops in our home offices, and glasses, earplugs, and notebooks on our bedside tables.

The list is long.

Our vision is to offer a timeless, functional, tactile and elegant storage solution for all the small-storage needs you have at home and in the office – and when travelling in between the two.

We are a heritage brand, a 100-year-old Danish business adapted to a modern mindset. We want to show that old crafts still hold value – and might even teach us a thing or two about quality and sustainability.”

Pia Kirkeskov Andersen
Re-founder, August Sandgren A/S

August Sandgren 1920 and forward

Reminiscent of the early twentieth century, the company was revived when the legacy of August Sandgren was discovered. His impeccable work as a bookbinder and box-maker was re-imagined for today's need for storage solutions.

August Sandgren (1893-1934), a former supplier to the Danish court's patterns, materials and tools were left over from the original company, and alongside its strong values and craftsmanship, adopted to build an innovative and remarkable company. In its modern-day vision, as imagined by owner Pia Kirkeskov Andersen, August Sandgren designs and handcrafts storage objects for all our physical belongings. Designed in Denmark and handcrafted by a European family-owned company, August Sandgren meets the needs of people who care not only about the neatness of their physical surroundings, but its aesthetic and sustainable value too.

The production is based on surplus materials as an effort to reduce waste and utilise materials already in existence. Not only is it better for the planet, with surplus materials from executive partners in the European furniture and fashion industry, we have access to some of the best materials in the world. Merged with a design philosophy of simplicity and functionality, our surplus strategy has only strengthened the longevity of our products. In fact, the patina of time makes them just the more beautiful.

When we do not use surplus materials, objects are made from the softest European oekotex-certified leather and natural fibre fabrics.

Directed by Pia, modern-day August Sandgren is built on values of respect, loyalty and longevity. The company is made up of like-minded people and partners, who support Pia's ideals for a space that embraces learning, peacefulness and playfulness. Everything we do is a team effort and an attempt to find better ways of doing things whether it is in design, waste-reduction, co-creation partnerships or company values and operations. Pia herself sets a perfect example, having given up a safe career path with McKinsey for a passion-project creating beautiful functional objects to help other people de-clutter their homes, offices and minds.

Craftsmanship & Sustainability

Our products are at the heart of what we do. Just like August Sandgren himself, who worked through the full product lifecycle from concept and design through to considerations of how the object would wear over time, we take steps regarding methods and materials to ensure that its beauty will always remain intact.

This concept of durability in design, craftsmanship and materials as well as longevity in functionality and aesthetics was at the heart of how August Sandgren operated then – and it remains the same today. With this mindset, our aim is to ensure that every object from August Sandgren lasts a lifetime and is crafted locally from naturally sourced materials. To us this is sustainability – as taught by a bygone era.

The Bookbox

The Bookbox is our bestselling box and was the first of August Sandgren's aesthetic boxes for storage. The box is useful at home and in the office for both smaller and larger piles of clutter. The Bookbox comes in three sizes, and with a removable inlay to divide the box into smaller compartments for the large Bookbox, which can be purchased separately.

Our standard Bookbox collection is made from natural surplus materials sourced from partners in the furniture industry, including a range of Northern European tanneries. Using surplus means access to the most exquisite aniline leather but it also, sometimes, means that there is small colour variations between batches and smaller – almost invisible – natural marks. We call it perfectly imperfect.

The non-surplus Bookbox collection is made in the most exquisite aniline oekotex certified leather and the beautiful colours are selected by H+O design studio by Josephine A Hoffmeyer and Elisa Ossino.

In addition to The Bookbox made from surplus leather, we also have a Limited Edition leather Bookbox made from 100% traceable leather – from individual free-range cow to final product. We are incredibly excited to work on this collaboration with SPOOR, a Danish leather brand that works according to values of animal welfare, craftsmanship and traceability. Each SPOOR box is numbered.

The Magazineholder

With the Magazineholder, we've revised one of our earliest designs, drawn by Anne Heinsvig and with a small twist by Oivind Slaatto around the strap and the button. It was always functional and aesthetic, but only now do we feel the time is right to launch it! Designed as an alternative to classic magazine holders, it beautifully fits the space next to the sofa or armchair – or next to your desk. It is created to fit most shelves, making it a candidate to be a document organizer too.

The Tray

The Tray is a result of customer demand. In our opinion, mess should be hidden away, why most of our objects have a lid. But some of our belongings are not messy; they are treasures, and they need a safe and soft place when not in use. A place where we can easily put them down and pick them up again e.g., your watch while in the shower, your jewels while sleeping or your cufflinks while getting ready.

For this type of storage, we have crafted The Tray, a modern take on a classic object. The corners are rounded and elegant and the closure is made with old brass piolinos, so the tray can lie flat while not in use. The Tray comes in a natural surplus leather version and an oekotex-certified leather version.

The surplus leather is sourced from partners in the furniture industry, including a range of Northern European tanneries. Using surplus means access to the most exquisite aniline leather but it also, sometimes, means that there are small colour variations between batches and smaller – almost invisible – natural marks. We call it perfectly imperfect.

The Hexagonbox

This is a con amore storage box. It is an object meant for nothing in particular, but it is beautiful. The kind of thing you need – just because. The box is inspired by traditional beautifully patterned Asian cardboard hexagon boxes. We have translated the ancient cardboard box into an exclusive leather bottom and an elegant padded and patterned fabric top. Using Dedar's magical fabrics on top, the result is all we had hoped for – a box you somehow must have. The Hexagonbox comes in three very different fabrics, a geometrical, a romantic and a cool – all beautiful and all in the shades of beige, brown, rust and warm yellow.

The Jewelbox

The Jewelbox is a small version of The Bookbox with a ring inlay inside. Our Jewelbox is elegant but in comparison to more traditional jewelry boxes it is very simple in look and feel – a true Danish design object, made for the modern, cool yet feminine woman.

The non-surplus Jewelbox collection is made in the most exquisite aniline oekotex certified leather and the beautiful colour combinations are composed by the award-winning Danish colour designer, Margrethe Odgaard.

In addition to The Jewelbox, we have introduced Jewel-on-the-go, a transportable solution for your most valuable belongings – your necklaces, bracelets, watches, rings, and earrings when traveling or when out and about. To make the transportable purse as pragmatic, beautiful and functional as possible, it is created in collaboration with The Jewellery Room and crafted in the most exceptional Duet leather, with one side in soft nubuck and the other in a rustic suede.

Fabric - Limited Edition

Our Limited Edition is made from fabrics chosen by designers we admire and / or in upholstery fabrics we love. The current limited edition fabrics have been chosen by Josephine A Hoffmeyer who owns the amazing and colourful tile brand File Under Pop, Thomas Lykke who owns the admirable OEO design studio, and Kjellerup Væveri who are Denmark's last weaving mill. Josephine has chosen a fabric from Italian Dedar while Thomas has chosen a Hosoo fabric. Kjellerup has dressed their limited edition collection in their own exquisite fabrics. In addition we have made a collection in fabrics from German Rohleder and Italian Missoni. Because we couldn't help it. The Limited Edition collection comes in The Bookbox medium, The Bookbox fusion, The Jewelbox large and small and The Keyring. However, not all limited editions come in all objects.

The On-the-go Collection

Our on-the-go collection is not an entry into the broader handbag market—many other brands do handbags better than us. We stay within storage, and we have therefore developed our on-the-go assortment following the same philosophy of simplicity, functionality and aesthetics as our other storage objects. The objects we have designed and crafted are a no-nonsense take on the minimum required objects needed when travelling or when moving around locally.

Our on-the-go assortment consists of The Megatote with space for everything you need during your day, The Tote for daily shopping, The Washbag with removable and washable lining, and The PC cover and the iPad cover. Recently, two objects, launched before the wider on-the-go assortment, have moved into this collection, as they are objects you use when on-the-go. They are our popular notebook and our keyring.

The Notebook

The Notebook was our first venture away from boxes. We did it because the book category is within our heritage and because we needed a notebook ourselves. The first notebooks were made from the left-over leather we had in stock. Today we continue making The Notebook from surplus leather from our own and other's production.

The non-surplus Notebook collection is made in the most exquisite aniline oekotex certified leather and the beautiful colours are selected by H+O design studio by Josephine A Hoffmeyer and Elisa Ossino.

The Keyring

The Keyring was our second venture away from boxes. We decided to craft a keyring because after having made our small boxes and notebooks, we still had surplus materials left that were too good to waste. With a keyring we stay true to our vision of making an object for every storage need our customers have, and at the same time we use the surplus of the surplus materials.

The non-surplus Keyring collection is made in the most exquisite aniline oekotex certified leather and the beautiful colours are selected by H+O design studio by Josephine A Hoffmeyer and Elisa Ossino.

In a digital age, it feels unique to print out photos, and we know nothing better than to browse through a photo album instead of scrolling on the phone. Therefore, we just launched our new photo album - simple, modern and stylish. It is a storage object to keep your most important memories safe.

Even if the photo album is an old school thing, the object itself does not need to be. Our photo album is not only beautiful, it is made from surplus leather, and fits perfectly in a modern home. On the front of the album, we can deboss text, names, logo, or monogram into the leather to make it extra personal. A personalised keeper of your most important, printed, memories for them to never crumple or fade.

The Photoalbum is A4 in size, and any A4 paper can be added to the album. This way you can have as many, or as few, photos stored in the album, as well as you can always add and deduct memories.

The A4 Filefolder

We attend quite a few meetings where we show up with our PC or iPad cover and a notebook, and often two pieces of loose paper. Those pieces of paper always end up lost or making us look uncool, so we developed the A4 file folder for those two pieces of paper. It can contain many more pieces but regardless how many pieces it holds, it store them and protect them from damage. And, in our book, it makes you look quite cool and organised too.

The A4 folder folder comes in a surplus leather version in black, cognac and grey and in a oekotex-certified leather version in cactus, saffron and terracotta.

The Table Setting Set

The Darling, a stunning boutique guest house in Copenhagen, sets tables for dinner parties and other events that are simply beyond belief. Therefore, when they asked us to develop a table setting set together – to organise the dinnerware, cutlery and glasses – we said yes. The project is borderline storage, but the result is worth having in our collection – it is stunning. With no stitches and laser-thin but stable solutions for the placemat and the coaster, The Table-setting-set follows the same design philosophy as our other objects i.e., timelessness, functionality and elegance. The set consists of a placemat, a napkin ring and a coaster all made from the softest oekotex-certified leather in a warm and elegant chocolate brown.
